More than a member

For over 30 years we have enjoyed working with corporate partners, large and small. See how three of our members have made wildlife their business...

Beaumont Financial, Oswestry
Gold member

Beaumont Financial has one of the most varied profiles for their interaction with Shropshire Wildlife Trust. As well as being corporate members they sponsor a series of activities in their area including allowing SWT to engage with primary schools in the Oswestry area through the John Muir Award, Mark Evans is also currently Chair of the SWT-run Meres & Mosses Business Environment Network (MMBEN)

Mark Evans Managing Director: "Working with Shropshire Wildlife Trust has been a great experience. They're very passionate about what they do and it's been a pleasure to get to understand more of how they are trying to reshape the approach to wildlife conservation in our county. I would certainly advocate Wildlife Trust corporate membership to all companies, large or small."

Ricoh Products Ltd, Telford
Silver member

Ricoh has formed a close working relationship with Shropshire Wildlife Trust where its 'eco-ninja' volunteers have been improving their health & wellbeing through hard work putting in steps and improving habitats at local nature reserves and on site to improve wildlife provision across Telford.

Andy Whyte, Chair of the Business Environmental Support Scheme for Telford (BESST) and Environment & Sustainability Specialist for Ricoh Product's Ltd: "Both personally and the organisations within BESST have been involved in numerous programmes which benefit the health & wellbeing of employees whilst also supporting wildlife provision across the urban landscape of Telford. As such the guidance received from Shropshire Wildlife Trust is of immense benefit to employees as well as to local communities across Telford."

Agilent Technologies, Church Stretton
Bronze member

Agilent Technologies is a global company with a real tie to Shropshire having two of its UK locations based in the county. Agilent Technologies were very quick to dive into getting hands-on with their involvement with SWT, booking a Wild Workday on a Trust nature reserve within 2 weeks of becoming members!

Neil Thomson, Site Manager: "We were really taken with the idea of being active corporate partners to the Trust rather than 'just' members. Our staff have really engaged with the idea of Wild Workdays and loved their first task day installing fencing. There is now a queue for the next one!"
